Arnhold, At Lumber Co. Meeting, Scores Anarchy In China, Asks Intervention

China Import And Export's President Says Tuchuns Must Be Taught That Back Of Protests Stand Military Force; Company Prosperous

The deplorable state of the country, both financially and politically, was the peg on which Mr. H. E. Arnhold, the Chairman of the China Import and Export Lumber Company, hung a spirited grievance at the annual meeting of the shareholders of the Company yesterday.

"The time has come for plain speaking," said he. It marks the first comment on the present conditions hampering foreign commerce in this country that has been made by the chairman of a joint-stock company.

It is a tribute of sound management that the Lumber Company, in spite of all the handicaps it had labored under in the pursuit of its business, should be able to show such an excellent working result. On a paid-up capital of Tls. 500,000 it has succeeded in building up reserves of no less than Tls. 2,400,000. It pays a dividend of eight percent, absorbing Tls. 40,000. After sundry appropriations it carries forward to next year's account a sum four times as much as the amount distributed as dividend, namely Tls. 161,833. Its financial position, it will be seen, is eminently sound.

At the meeting yesterday there were present Messrs. W. J. N. Dyer, R. McE. Dalgliesh and C. L. Seitz (Directors), and shareholders representing 3,471 shares.

Mr. Arnhold said: "Before proceeding with my report on the accounts and the regular business of the meeting, I would like to comment upon the unsatisfactory conditions of business in China resulting from the deplorable state of the Government of this country, as evidenced by the continued interference with ordinary trading by illegal taxation, civil war in various parts of the country and bandit depredations.

COMPANY HAMPERED

"With its wide-spread organisation in China, the Lumber Company's operations in the interior have been rendered most difficult. Foreign members of the Company's staff have repeatedly been fired upon by bandits in attempts to seize them for ransom. Our Chinese employees and laborers have in various parts of the country been subjected to impressment under so-called military control hardly different in character from brigandage.

"China is being allowed to drift towards a state of chaos and wide-spread disaffection such as existed in the days of the Taiping Rebellion. With bandit chiefs and their hordes continuing practically to control large areas of territory, and defiant militarists at times joining forces with bandits in order to prevent the exercise of Government authority, the advent of conditions as they existed in the days of the Taiping Rebellion is by no means a remote contingency.

"The recent incident of the attack on a passenger train of the Tientsin-Pukow Railway and the seizure of a number of well-known foreign residents and business people by bandits is merely one of the indications of the inability of the Government to control the country. Under ordinary circumstances, I would not so openly criticise the so-called Government of China, but not only have the operations of the China Import and Export Lumber Co., Ltd., been most seriously interfered with by civil war and bandit depredations, but very heavy losses have as a result thereof had to be written off in our accounts. The time has come for plain speaking. Not only is co-operation among the large business interests in China necessary, but the representatives at Peking of the Great Powers must unite to make Chinese officialdom realise that the altruistic ideals concerning China promulgated at the Washington Conference can no longer continue to serve as a pretext for the infringement of treaty rights and the endangering of the lives and property of foreigners.

ENDORSES ARTICLE

"The sincere well-wishers of China must heartily concur in the views recently expounded in a leading article in the 'London Times,' recommending an International Commission to investigate and report on the best measures for the protection of foreign interests in China, which might evolve remedies for the anarchy which menaces, with political and economic ruin, a land naturally wealthy, peaceful and law-abiding. Something must be done in the immediate future to restore to foreigners their former security. There is but one way to do that. Tuchuns and bandits must be reminded by signs, visible and palpable, that behind foreign notes and protestations stands the stern reality of military force.

"I will now turn to the balance sheet and accounts. The report and accounts for the financial year of the Company, which ended February 28, 1923, have been in your hands for some time and I will, with your permission, take them as read. Before proceeding with my report thereon however, I will request that the Secretary read the auditors' report as printed on the balance sheet."

The Secretary having read the auditors' report, the Chairman continued:

"In view of what I have said regarding the interference in trade operations in China during the past year, your Directors consider you are to be congratulated upon the excellent results attain-

Shanghai College Students Have Puzzles Unraveled

BY DAVID ARAKIE

"How to read the financial pages of THE CHINA PRESS" was the theme of an address that Mr. Percy Chu, the Assistant Manager of the Chekiang Industrial Bank, delivered last week before the Business Club of the Shanghai College. The lecturer paid a great compliment to this newspaper, which he said was a recognised authority, among other things, on financial topics in Shanghai, and "the most popular paper in the Settlement."

Incidentally, it might be added that the Shanghai College has prepared a course of instruction in business administration, the students of this class having formed themselves into a Club, which has come to be known as the Business Club. Its utility as a center of enlightenment is becoming popular every day and the ranks of those desirous of securing business education are being swelled rapidly. The Shanghai College was formed in 1906, and today it has on its rolls no less than 550 students.

The instruction embraces a number of subjects, comprising insurance, banking, accounting and related series. Prominent business men of Shanghai are invited regularly to address the students, to assist them in acquiring a better conception of many things from a personal chat, which is often more interesting than securing it from text books. These lectures are well attended and their popularity is increasing.

MR. CHU EXPLAINS

In his preamble, Mr. Chu said: 'I often wonder what the ordinary reader gets out of the financial pages of THE CHINA PRESS. I can well remember when I used to skip the financial page as one of a meaningless mass of figures. Most

Chinese Red Cross, After Waiting Three Days For Uniforms, Gets On Job

BY "LARRY" LEHRBAS
Staff Correspondent the China Press

Tsaochuang, May 28.—The Chinese Red Cross, evidently under the impression that it should be better late than never, has sent a delegation occupying two cars to Tsaochuang to take part in relief work among the Chinese captives on Paotzuku.

At the present time it is figured that there are about 70 Chinese captives held by the bandits, not counting the child captives who have been held on top of the mountain for almost a year. At the beginning nothing was done for them by any relief agency as the American Mission was primarily interested in getting supplies to the American, British, French, Italian and Mexican captives—supplies furnished by the American Chamber of Commerce of Shanghai.

After Carl Crow, the Chamber's representative, and Mr. R. A. McCann, of the Asia Development Company, had thoroughly organized their bandit express and delivery service and getting their supplies through to the captives every day they were requested by Chinese officials here to send food to the Chinese captives as well.

For the past four days, consequently, they have been sending food to the Chinese in care of the foreign captives, who have distributed it among the Chinese. It was sent in that manner because food sent to them direct through other sources than the American's service, never reached them. Before the foreign sent supplies arrived the Chinese were living from hand-to-mouth. Most of them were half-starved and reports from various sources are that a number have actually died from starvation.

Yesterday a contingent representing the Chinese Red Cross arrived, including several doctors. They immediately occupied two cars and hung Red Cross flags from every conceivable point of the cars. One car is fitted up as an operating room with an operating table, shrouded in white, in plain view and simply watchfully waiting for someone to get shot so they can get busy on him.

In conversation with members of the allied relief workers the Chinese representatives admitted that they had arrived here in record time once they had received orders to come.

"We received the orders only three days ago," one of them said, "and as soon as we could get our uniforms made—three days—we came."

In conference with the Co-Director of Military Affairs the Chinese Red Cross announced that they felt that China had lost "face" through allowing the foreigners to feed the Chinese captives and requested that they be allowed to take over that supply. The American Chamber of Commerce representative gladly met their views and when he found that they were without supplies to feed the Chinese captives turned over a large supply of biscuits, tinned meats and fruits, bread, medicines, underclothing and other necessary articles.

The Chinese captives have been kept alive for three weeks now so it is to be hoped that the Chinese Red Cross will be able to keep them alive the rest of the time they are in captivity.

Lasker Gets Large Offer For Ships

Exclusive Dispatch To THE CHINA PRESS

Washington, May 29.—Chairman Lasker of the Shipping Board announced today that the offer of one billion, fifty one million dollars for the shipping board's fleet would be seriously investigated. The offer was made by John W. Slack, president of the Columbia Machinery company, manufacturers, among other things, of the machines used by the government in the post office department.

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, May 29.—The United States Shipping Board has received a definite but informal offer to purchase the entire active portion of the merchant fleet. It is stated that the amount offered is about $1,000,000,000. It is asserted that the group making the offer is of very high financial standing.

Mr. Lasker, the President of the Shipping Board, says that it will be delightful if investigation proves the offer to be bona-fide. He pointed out that the sum is nearly three times the present inventory value. No cash deposit or other guarantees accompanied the bid.

Lobingier, In Memorial Day Address, Draws Fine Pen Picture Of Gen. Grant

A considerable number of Shanghai Americans, and some of other nationalities as well, gathered at Bubbling Well Cemetery yesterday morning, despite the rain, to observe the incidence of Memorial Day, the ceremony being marked by an eloquent address by Judge Charles S. Lobingier of the United States Court for China.

The American Company, S.V.C., a detachment from the American naval craft in port and American Boy Scouts assembled at the Recreation Ground at 8:30 a.m. and, headed by the Municipal Band, marched to the cemetery, where they were awaited at the chapel by United States Consul-General Edwin S. Cunningham, Judge Lobingier, Admiral Phelps, Colonel Gordon, Major S. A. Ransom and many others. Opening prayer was said by the Rev. Clifford M. Drury, of Community Church, after which Consul-General Cunningham, as master of ceremonies, introduced Judge Lobingier. The Judge's address took the form of a tribute to General Ulysses S. Grant, who visited Shanghai forty-four years ago this month. Following the address, which is given in full below the Rev. C. L. Boynton pronounced the benediction and the American Company, S.V.C., fired volleys over the graves, after which a Navy bugler blew "Taps" and the various American graves were decorated with flowers and flags.

All American official departments and most of the American hongs were closed during the day.

JUDGE LOBINGIER SPEAKS

Following is Judge Lobingier's address:

Mr. Chairman, Fellow Citizens and Friends:—Eight years ago today, in speaking from this platform and tracing the history of Memorial Day, I ventured to express the hope that it might become a truly national day, observed with equal devotion by Americans everywhere and displacing all sectional observances. Due to America's participation (then two years away) in the world war that hope has been realised sooner than could otherwise have been expected.

One of the by-products of that Titanic struggle is the American Legion with its programme of patriotic endeavor, and among its achievements is the adoption of this date as an occasion for a uniform, national and non-sectional tribute to America's heroic dead.

Along with this feature is the further need of a periodical restatement of our national ideals, the instruction of the rising generation in the fundamental facts of American history and the application of its lessons to present-day problems and local conditions.

NEGOTIATIONS FOR RELEASE OF OTHERS PROCEED FAVORABLY

Aged English Tourist And American Army Major Allowed To Leave Paotzuku At Ten O'clock Last Night; Anderson And Wen Return With Powell To Outlaws' Camp To Continue Parleys

By Lloyd ("Larry") Lehrbas

Tsaochuang, May 31 (1:40 a.m.)—William Smith, the aged English tourist, and Major Robert Allen, of the American Army, were unconditionally released by the bandits at 10 o'clock tonight. The negotiation for the release of the others, which are reported to be proceeding favorably, will continue tomorrow.

By Lloyd ("Larry") Lehrbas

Tsaochuang, May 30.—Messrs. Powell, Anderson and Wen left for Paotzuku at day break this morning, taking back the government's answers to points raised by the bandits after their receipt of a reply to their notes of yesterday. On all sides it is agreed that negotiations are continuing along favorable lines.

THE RESOLUTION

"That this meeting, representative of the whole foreign community of Shanghai, desires to place on record its profound horror at the outrage recently committed at Lincheng and at the increasing lawlessness and misrule of which Lincheng is the culmination. And this meeting respectfully calls the attention of the Diplomatic Body in Peking to this public and united expression of feeling, in the hope and Tsaochuang, May 29.—Tsaochuang's distinguished visitors left for their home at Paotzuku yesterday afternoon. The bandit chiefs intended to leave in the morning, and together with Mr. J. B. Powell they started just before noon. On arriving at the troop cordon, however, they were stopped and turned back, presumably because they had not the proper pass.

The soldiers are now stricter than ever in their vigilant watch on the mountain lair, and all messengers, both incoming and outgoing, are stopped and held unless they have proper passes. As the troops have just been changed, there was some misunderstanding about the authenticity of the pass, but a new one was issued on the bandit delegation's return, and they set out again in the afternoon. As nothing further has been heard, it is anticipated that they reached Paotzuku safely.

In the morning the bandit representatives spent a pleasant hour in Tsaochuang making purchases of silk and various articles of which they stood in need.

No official statement has been made regarding the discussion with the Deputy Tuchun, but conversations I have had with the Commissioner for Foreign Affairs give the general trend of the conference.

Both sides were very frank, and the bandits appeared to realise that there were too sides to the question, and that all of their demands could not be accepted unconditionally. The only point on which there seems to have been any real division of opinion was the number of men to be admitted to the army. As is well known, the bandits have constantly increased the number they wish taken into the army, with a view to enabling other bands to join them. Their present demand is for four mixed brigades, but this is a number which the Shantung Government is not prepared to accept blindly.

The Government's point of view is that there are many men who are not members of the original band, and who, in fact, are merely hangers-on. What they are prepared to do is to admit one bandit into the army for every rifle in their possession. That is really the only basis on which the bandits may be numbered. If they have 4,000 rifles, then that number of men will be admitted. It is estimated that there are but 1,000 men armed, and who would thus be admitted under that condition.

The supply of food presents no difficulty, and the demand for pay is one which, it is anticipated, will be settled without any particular trouble at the conference specially designed for the discussion of these details.

The discussion also confirmed the theory that the bandits are in two parties, the political and the professional. It is this latter body which is blocking the successful issue of the negotiations. The professional bandits, the old leaders, frankly do not want to enter the army. They much prefer continuing their present occupation. They are out only for money, though they profess they do not want any from the foreigners.

From the Chinese prisoners they hope to get substantial ransoms, and they expect a total of two million dollars from the various towns. The foreigners in the meantime provide them with guarantee of safety.

It is this group, too, which necessitates the strong force of troops, for they are only too anxious to get away from their present state of semi-siege, and, if an opportunity presented itself, would speedily break through the cordon.

Fortunately it appears that the political bandits are gaining strength, and that there is an increasing number who wish to avail themselves of the change to join in the army.

At the conference to be held today it will be seen whether they are sufficiently strong enough to carry the day, and agree to accept the Government's proposals as the basis for final agreement. If they are, then release should quickly follow. If they are not, it has already been seen how utterly unreasonable and illogical the others are.

The bandit representatives promised when they left that they would return with their answer in two days. The Deputy Tuchun stressed that there must not be any idle parleys. He expected a favorable answer immediately.

(Reuters Pacific Service)

Tsaochuang, May 29.—Two fairly tall, well dressed gentlemen. Nothing very remarkable about either except that one had a sandy moustache. And that was an apologetic growth, nothing fiercely aggressive about it. Yet these two visitors to Tsaochuang comprise really the brains of the bandit organisation.

The two quiet gentlemen, who were such an object of interest here yesterday, were, as a matter of fact, just a little apprehensive of their safety. They were the chiefs' secretaries, and while perhaps realising the pen is mightier than the sword, they did not hold the sword in contempt.

They were polite, they were frank, they were business-like, and in their discussion they revealed they had thinking brains. There was nothing on the crude coolie-bandit about them. Chi Chen-chiang and Liu Yu-kang, the two representatives, are both of good family, and while the former drifted into banditry after serving with the army, the latter threw in his lot with the outlaws for purposes of revenge. He states that his brother was kidnapped and illtreated by soldiers.

The chief's son who accompanied them was making his second visit to the Relief Camp and he was soon thoroughly at home. He gave himself a first class touch of stomach trouble with a hearty meal of raisins, but proved amenable to remonstrance when he tackled a cigar. Whether he believed that his lungs would be injured, as one Chinese official told him, or whether cigar and raisins was too strong a combination, is debatable, but at least he threw the cigar away.

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tsaochuang, May 29.—"Because his foot kicked against a stone he turned round and shot at the stone until it split." That gives an insight into the character of Sun Mei-yao.

From all accounts this prominent bandit leader is nothing if not whimsical. On one occasion Sun fell off his donkey, and injured both his dignity and his body. So as a kind of balm to his wounded feelings, just to give his dignity something really to worry about, he solemnly mounted his donkey, and just as solemnly fell off again.

That is a true story, typical of the man.

Just before the Lincheng outrage, Sun Mei-yao treated himself to a similar experience. This time he accidentally fell off the roof of a house, and the fall was so quick that he had not the remotest idea how it happened. He found out by doing it all over again.

And Sun Mei-yao is playing a big part in the negotiations.

CIVIL STRIFE IN BANDIT CAMP IS CAUSE OF DELAY

Young Outlaws Eager To Get Into Army, Oldtimers Fearful

BY "LARRY" LEHRBAS

(Staff Correspondent, China Press)

Tsaochuang, May 28.—What kind of a unit will the bandits now holding the foreign and Chinese captives on Paotzuku make when they are incorporated into the Chinese Army? That question has interested both the foreigners and Chinese among the group at the relief headquarters here in view of the fact that under the bandits' demands, some of which at least will be met, they will soon become soldiers.

A survey of the members of the band from both Chinese and foreign points of view shows that they are a weird collection of military men and farmers, ex-soldiers and bred-in-the-bone bandits, disciplined and undisciplined. The big chief of them all, Sun Mei-yao, was a former Major under Chang Ching-yao when Reimert, the American, was murdered in cold blood at Yochow. His two nephews, the Sun boys, have always been bandits. One of the two bandit delegates who came to Tsaochuang to talk terms with the Chinese officials and consular body was a battalion commander under General Feng, the Christian General. The other was once a respectable member of the gentry of a nearby village who fled to the hills after being unceasingly persecuted by the soldiers. Still another chief—the one who had actual charge of the wrecking of the train—was once a section foreman at Nanking and in Chekiang.

The bandits themselves are from all classes, but mostly ex-soldiers and farmers. Some of the ex-soldiers were members of labor battalions in France and learned how to wield a rifle as well as a shovel in the trenches.

TWO GROUPS

The bandits can be roughly divided into two groups—the old bandits, who are opposing the present terms, and the new bandits, who desire to accept the present terms and become members of the army.

The old bandits appear to be led by Wang, the chief who wrecked the train, and Chow, the pig-tailed leader who led the 'shock bandits' against the train, shooting and yelling. They are mostly old-time bandits who know nothing but the gentle art of banditry as a livelihood. They have so many crimes to their credit, many of them fearful to contemplate, and have become so imbued with the true bandit spirit, that they do not want to go into the army. Their only desire is to get as much money from their hostages—although as a matter of fact they expect to secure ransoms for only the Chinese captives—as they can, and then decamp to some other part of the country. Their chief use for the foreign captives is to afford them protection until they have an opportunity of escaping, or to cover their retreat.

THE "NEW" BANDITS

The so-called new bandits are mostly recently disbanded soldiers who claim they have no other way of making a living than by resorting to robbery. They admit frankly that they made the raid on the 'Blue Express' with the sole idea in view of holding the foreigners prisoners until the Chinese Government recognised their demands to be taken into the army again. The Chinese captives, of course, were to be held for cumsha, and one of the delegates who came to Tsaochuang naively admitted that they expected to hang onto the Chinese even after they became soldiers until they were ransomed out at some agreeable figure.

At the present time a struggle is going on in the bandit camp between the two factions. Just which of the two is the strongest remains to be seen, but it is thought that the majority of the bandits favor being taken into the army and will, in the end, prove victorious. In the meantime, however, there is the danger that the 'old bandits,' either in a spirit of revenge, or in an effort to incriminate the 'new bandits' so that they will not be able to go into the army, will do some harm to the captives. That they are in a mean mood is testified to by the fact that some of the men under Wang, led by Wang himself, fired on two prominent members of the gentry a few days ago when they were on their way to the bandit camp to attempt to take terms for the release of the captives.

TOKIO'S NEW MAYOR

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Tokio, May 30.—Mr. Nagata was today formally appointed Mayor of Tokio.

PASSION

DON'T SEND PAPERS!

The request that relatives and friends of the men held by the Lincheng bandits at Paotzuku stop sending newspapers and clippings to the prisoners is made by Mr. Carl Crow, representative of the American Red Cross and American Chamber of Commerce, who returned to Shanghai from Tsaochuang yesterday morning.

Since the decision of the officials of the various nations that newspapers sent to the bandit camp shall be stripped of accounts of the affair it is not possible to forward these accounts mailed in by friends and relatives and their receipt at Tsaochuang simply adds to the work of the relief party.

Arnhold Scores Anarchy In China

ed. Our profit and loss account shows a credit balance of Tls. 496,056.48, including the amount brought forward from the previous year. After deducting auditors and directors' fees of Tls. 2,757., and transferring to reserves the sum of Tls. 291,473.21, there remains at credit the sum of Tls. 201,833.27, out of which it is proposed to pay a dividend of 8 percent absorbing Tls. 40,000, and to carry forward to new account the sum of Tls. 161,833.27.

"Your directors regret that a larger dividend cannot be recommended because of the continued heavy obligations to our bankers, resulting from the large sums still due to the Company by Chinese Government Railways. During the past year, however, the Railways have, despite difficulties in connection with levies on their incomes by tuchuns and militarists, paid off a portion of their liabilities to the Company, and our sundry debtors account, which at the end of the previous year stood at Tls. 1,373,951.77, has been reduced, as shown in the balance sheet, to Tls. 1,009,652.62.

RAILWAYS PROSPER

"The Chinese Government Railways are showing satisfactory profits in their operation. Despite all the endeavors of the Directors of the Railways to utilise profits earned to pay for materials delivered, they are only able to pay gradually in small instalments, because such military leaders as Tsao Kun, Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin are seizing the greater part of the earnings of the Railways for the upkeep of military forces. Nevertheless, the situation is improving so far as liabilities to the Company are concerned, and we hope during the current year to see a further material reduction in railway indebtedness to us.

"Apart from Railway obligations all other accounts carried under sundry debtors are in excellent shape and doubtful debts have all been written off. Our stocks, valued at Tls. 2,290,796.06, less reserve for market fluctuation of Tls. 300,000, stand in the balance sheet at Tls. 1,990,796.06, showing a reduction as compared woth the previous year of Tls. 228,640.54. This reduction in our stock has been brought about by the conservative restriction of operations of the Company due to unsettled conditions in China which do not make development of trade beyond the areas immediately surrounding treaty ports sufficiently safe for the Company to take full advantage of the possibilities of business to be done.

"The company was handicapped in its operations during the past year as the result of having to carry on its sawmill work in Shanghai under difficult conditions in the temporary mill fitted up after the fire which destroyed our main sawmill in the autumn of 1921. Construction of the Company's new plant in Shanghai, built of steel and reinforced concrete, has been completed and the installation of the machinery in the building will be completed shortly. When the new plant is in full operation it is hoped its economy in working will add considerably to our profits, as the equipment of this new mill is up-to-date in every respect.

REVALUATION REPORT

"A re-valuation of the properties of the Company at its various branches in China was undertaken as of the 28th of February last, and shows, according to survey reports and accounts submitted, a substantial increase in the values of the Company's holdings, which has been carried direct to reserve fund.

"A readjustment of the reserve funds account has been effected, and after writing off depreciation to the amount of Tls. 263,889.13 from the Company's investments mill machinery, floating and general equipment, as set out in the reserve funds readjustment account the balance held under depreciation reserve, as well as investment and stock fluctuation reserve, was transferred to ordinary and special reserves. The Company's reserves, as set out in the balance sheet, now stand at the total of Tls. 2,400,600. In addition to the depreciation written off our book values on plant, etc., the sum of Tls. 31,474.04 was expended during the year in renewals and repairs and was charged to general working account. With the very liberal depreciation which has been provided for, the Company's plant now stands at book values estimated at approximately two-thirds of cost of replacement, and is throughout in excellent condition.

"Our obligations to our bankers, the Hongkong and Shanghai Banking Corporation, which consist principally of trade acceptances, have, during the past year, been reduced by Tls. 727,523.84. This is all I have to say regarding the accounts."

The following resolutions were then put to the meeting and passed unanimously:—

Proposed by Mr. H. E. Arnhold seconded by Mr. W. J. N. Dyer, That the report and accounts as presented be passed and that the balance at credit of profit and loss account of Tls. 201,833.27 be appropriated as follows: To pay dividend of 8 percent absorbing Tls. 40,000., and to carry forward to new account for the financial year 1923 the sum of Tls. 161,833.27.

Proposed by Mr. H. E. Arnhold and seconded by Mr. C. L. Seitz: That the appointment of Mr. R. McE. Dalgliesh as a Director of the Company be confirmed.

with the intention that it may strengthen Their Excellencies' hands in making such representations to their respective Governments as they may deem necessary, to secure the speedy release of the captives now in bandit hands and to bring the Central and Provincial authorities of China to a lasting sense of their responsibility for the restoration of order, the observance of treaty rights and the welfare of the great and friendly Chinese people."

The resolution has been submitted to the Committee of the Shanghai General Chamber of Commerce, members of which gave it their hearty approval and promised the meeting the organisation's moral support.

Council Writes On Motorbus Plan

Further correspondence concerning the proposed motor bus service is contained in today's Municipal Gazette, the Council, replying to Mr. H. E. Arnhold, stating that the terms submitted are satisfactory to the Municipality, subject to certain modifications. The suggestion that before any extension of the tramway system or of railless trams is permitted the company shall have the option of operating motor buses on such routes, the Council states cannot be entertained. Other modifications stipulate that the Council be reimbursed in respect of any claims for damage caused by the vehicles which the Council may be called upon to pay, that the period of six months for commencement of the service of 30 buses be increased to one year, and that the question of double deck cars will be the subject of further correspondence.

DR. F. C. TONG AGAIN BACK IN CHINESE JAIL

Prisoner Arrested By Police In French Concession Is Extradited

Dr. F. C. Tong, former general manager of the Journal of Commerce, who was recently arrested in the French Concession and detained in the police jail, while he was being returned to the Shanghai District Court for retrial by order of the Supreme Court at Soochow, has been turned over to the local Chinese Court.

It will be recalled that Dr. Tong was sentenced to three years' imprisonment after his conviction on the charge of obtaining money by false pretences filed at the Shanghai District Court by the family of the late Miss Chi Shang-chen, who committed suicide. The Apellate Court there later sustained the decision of the District Court and besides ordered the accused to pay to the family of the deceased the sum of $5,000, which he was alleged to have borrowed from the girl. Dr. Tong further appealed to the Supreme Court at Soochow which ordered a retrial of the case by the local court.

He was arrested in the French concession because the Chinese police constables who undertook to extradite him, failed to notify the French authorities of their passage through the Concession, contrary to police regulations.

PEACE CONFERENCE

Peking, May 30.—The Government received a telegram from Shanhaikwan on May 29, stating that General Sun Lieh-chun, General Wang Chen-ping, General Lu Chin and General Yu Chun-han had arrived to participate in the Chihli-Fengtien peace conference.

A formal start is expected to be made on Friday.

Banker Explains Financial Page

people complain that the financial page lacks heart interest, but financial interest is the strongest rival of heart interest." Mr. Chu was referring in this respect particularly to the page of quotations, etc. in THE CHINA PRESS.

A Chinese lady, writing to us on the same subject, desires us to explain certain of the terms we use in the financial and commercial news column. She wants to know the difference between the rate of gold bars at 319 and that under "Shanghai Gold Bars 978." The two are distinct. Gold bar 978 represents its fineness. The gold touch is the highest rate quoted for one gold bar of ten tael weight. By the fineness of a gold bar set down at 978 is meant that 22-1000 part of it constitutes alloy. The weight of a Shanghai tael is 565.7 grains.

The question is often asked how the price of a gold bar is arrived at. Roughly speaking it is based on the price of gold in London, which today stands at £4.18.6 per ounce. The easiest way of arriving at the value of a gold bar in taels is to work it on the following lines:

One gold bar=10 Shanghai taels' weight.

One Shanghai tael=565.7 grains (troy).

1,000 grains (troy)=978 grains (pure).

916 2-3 grains (sovereign fine) =1,000 grains.

480 grains=1 ounce.

100.75 charge=100 ounces.

1 ounce—£4. 8s. 11d.

MARKET RATE

The approximate market rate would be reached by multiplying the figures on one side and dividing the result with those on the other side. The net result divided by the sterling rate would give the equivalent price for gold bars in Shanghai taels. Thus: 10 × 565.7 = 978 x 1,000 x 100 x £4. 8s. 11d. divided by 1,000 x 916 2-3 x 480 x 100.75. The result divided by the sterling gives a figure very near the market rate.

The market quotation of Mexican dollars given as 72.625 means that one dollar is equivalent to seven mace and two candeerens point zero two five. In other words, one Mexican dollar is worth Tls. 0.72. Bar silver quoted at 32 5-8 means 32 5-8 pence per ounce of silver, the prevailing rate on the London market.

Most readers are perplexed in understanding the native rate of interest, which is quoted at .27. It is two mace seven candeereens per thousand taels per day, or Tls. 2.70 per Tls. 1,000 for ten days, or Tls. 8.10 per month on Tls. 1,000. The ... per month, therefore works out to about 9.7 percent. A silver tael will buy 2,500 coppers or 250,000 copper cash.

COURT GRANTS APPLICATION OF ROLLING MILLS

In the British Supreme Court yesterday Mr. A. E. Seddon made an application on behalf of the Anglo-Chinese Steel Rolling Mills, Ltd., for an extension of time in order to comply with the provisions of section eight, subsection 2 and 3 of the Companies' Order-in-Council of 1915, and thereby put the affairs of the company right. Mr. A. G. Mossop appeared for the Registrar of Companies.

Mr. Seddon mentioned that under section 90 the Judge, Sir Meyer Turner, could grant relief.

The Judge said the effect on the company would be if it secured the order granting relief, it would be a bar, he took it, against proceedings for penalty. It was a question of law, under the circumstances.

Mr. Mossop said he could imagine a case where there were a dozen directors, one of whom should be blamed. One of the directors who should be blamed might very well be found not guilty by another Court. Section 258 of the Order-in-Council only dealt with proceedings against a director or any person acting as such, or against the secretary.

The Judge: That is, proceedings for neglect or breach of trust in his duty as director. It covers only two classes of cases, and it would probably not apply to a case like this.

Mr. Mossop: The general relief to all officers of the company might preclude against some other proceedings.

His Lordship in granting the company's application, said the application made was to extend time under article 8 of the China Companies' Ordinance of 1915; so that the company might do what was right within the provisions of the Act. No opposition was raised by the Registrar of Companies to the application. It seemed to His Lordship that the company had not yet started operations within the limits of the Order-in-Council. Under these circumstances he proposed to grant the order as asked for, extending the time 14 days in order that there may be sufficient directors within the jurisdiction and according to the terms of the Order-in-Council. He wished to say two things about it. One was that there was no ground given by the Order-in-Council which would bar him from granting this. In every case discretionary powers were allowed generally, inadvertence on the part of the board or secretary being one of them. He had already laid down that inadvertence was not enough. As regards the application for an order for relief, His Lordship said that he was not aware that under article 8 in the Order-in-Council he had no jurisdiction to grant relief against penalty. His order might be interpreted as granting relief.

The order was made, the company to pay the day's costs of the Registrar of Companies.

U. Of Michigan Professor Addresses Law Students

Last evening Professor J. R. Hayden of the Political Science Department of the University of Michigan, who during the past year has been exchange professor of Political Science, University of the Philippines, delivered an intensely interesting lecture on the present political situation in the Philippine Islands before the students of The Comparative Law School of China. Professor Hayden has just completed a tour of Japan, Korea, and China and sails Saturday for Manila; from there returning to the United States via Europe.

Professor Hayden prefaced his address by the remark that it is much easier to discuss Oriental problems before coming to the Orient than afterwards, it being particularly hard for a foreigner to understand what is taking place.

Things, conditions, and developments in the Philippines should be of special interest to the Chinese people for several reasons:

1.—The geographical location.

2.—80 percent of the business in the Islands in the hands of Chinese, mostly from Fokien Province.

3.—Filipinos are an Oriental people trying to work out the problem of self-government under modern conditions, etc.

Professor Hayden sketched briefly the history of the Spanish occupation of the Islands, pointing out that while the Spanish culture was passed on the higher classes, the lower classes were suppressed and kept in ignorance. Even what culture had previously existed was suppressed, and nothing given them in the place of it. The stern and unjust rule of the religious orders led to revolts in 1872 and again in 1896-7.

In discussing the history of the U. S. occupation, Professor Hayden dwelt upon the constitutional difficulty the United States had in taking the sovereignty of this distant territory. While in Peking he had learned an interesting story in that connection. When at the close of the Spanish-American war it had been decided that the U. S. should take the Philippines, President McKinley called Minister Schurman (then President of Cornell University) to Washington and requested that he head a secret mission to the Philippines to make an investigation prior to taking them over from Spain. Minister Schurman is said to have offered various objections to heading such a Mission—that he could not leave his work at the University, etc.—each of which was met by the President. Minister Schurman then admitted that his real objection was that he did not favor the taking of the Philippines by the United States. President McKinley replied: "I don't believe in it either, but since we have destroyed Spain's authority and the Islands have been left derelict by the outcome of the War, for the time being there is nothing else for us to do."

When the U. S. took over the control of the Philippines the people fully expected that they would be given their immediate independence. Their disappointment in this respect led to the two-year revolution which cost the U. S. $600,000,000 to suppress. The leaders of the revolution appreciated that there was little hope for victory but nevertheless considered that the moral principle involved was worth sacrificing for, inasmuch as it would lay the foundation for future independence.

The first government set up in the Philippines was a military government. The powers of government were later divided between the army and a civil commission. Later the five men composing the commission gained complete control. They proceeded to build upon the Spanish structure, with some modification, a government which proved workable. Up to the year 1907 the Commission enacted such legislation regarding education, etc. as was necessary to meet the demands. In 1907 a new element, that of an Assembly elected by the people, was introduced. The Assembly became the lower house and the Commission, which now consisted of five Americans and four Filipinos, became the upper house. This period down to 1907 may be considered the period of reconstruction. "The Philippine Islands for the Filipinos" was the slogan of the American element in the government during all of this period.

The year 1907 marked the beginning of the period of Philippinisation, the American teachers, treasurers of the provinces, and others employed in the government gradually being replaced by Filipinos. When this period ended in 1913 about 74 percent of all governmental positions were occupied by Filipinos.

From 1913 to 1916 the Commission consisted of five Filipinos and four Americans, thus giving the Filipinos a majority. The policy of the Democratic Party having favored independence, when Governor-General Harrison was sent out by President Wilson, the Filipinos were given a free hand and by 1921, 96 percent of the government employees were Filipinos, the other four percent being for the most part American teachers. In 1916 by act of the U. S. Congress an elective senate took the place of the commission as the upper house. While under the former regime the American members of the Commission headed the various executive departments, now five of the six executive departments were headed by Filipinos, the department of Education alone being headed by an American. Thus the government of the Philippines became practically autonomous.

The rapid process of Philippinization under the Harrison administration led to a great decrease in efficiency, a lowering of the educational standards, a laxity in health measures, a general financial depression and a wave of corruption in politics. On the other hand it should be pointed out that the strong anti-American feeling which existed when Harrison came was practically dissipated. He gave them control, and the best way for people to learn to govern themselves is by governing themselves.

Upon his election President Harding sent out the Wood-Forbes Commission, and in 1921 General Wood was appointed Governor General. The ensuring increase in efficiency is largely attributable to his efforts. However, the Filipinos having realized their previous errors, willingly cooperated. The result is that conditions in the Philippine Islands are better than ever before. In the election of 1922 80 percent of the voters cast ballots this percentage being greater than ever attained in the U. S. in a national election. More significant still is the fact that in 1922 the Nationalistic Party which had had complete control since 1906 was defeated, each of two other parties having secured more seats than the Nationalistic Party secured. This result showed that there was a public opinion in the Philippine Islands, and "this to me" Professor Hayden said, "is a hopeful and significant thing, demonstrating that the Filipinos want good government, and will punish those who refuse to give it."

Furthermore the 1922 election marks the organization of political parties with adherence to principles instead to men. In spite of sentiment to the contrary it is true that no democratic government has been able to function without parties. The existence of this public opinion is the more significant when we consider that there are no agencies for gathering and disseminating news such as we have in the United States, and that in a territory of 11,000,000 people the total newspaper circulation is only 135 000.

In his concluding remarks Professor Hayden expressed the opinion that the Filipinos are now able to run their own government, democratically and reasonably well. There is, however, another aspect of the problem which is not usually regarded. The budget for the coming year is only 63,000 000 pesos, but should the U. S. relinquish control the upkeep for an army, navy, and other service now rendered by the U.S. would quadruple the expenses at once. It is contended that the additional expense could be met by additional taxation, but this would stifle business, and it is business which the Filipinos need more than anything else. If the U. S. should completely withdraw and the advantages of free trade with America should be cut off, the Philippine Islands would have the difficult task of establishing new markets for her tobacco, sugar and cocoanuts, and of competing with the rest of the world.

Political autonomy with a measure of protection by the U. S. coupled with free trade might be a practical solution.

Fine Vegetable Display Feature Of Flower Show

A very fine collection of fruits and vegetables grown experimentally in ground treated with activated sludge, a fertiliser which will be generally available with the inauguration of the new Municipal sewage scheme, proved the outstanding feature of the Shanghai Horticultural Society's flower show, held at the Town Hall yesterday.

The flower show this spring was marked by a considerably restricted display of blossoms, due to the recent heavy rains and also to the fact that the date of the exhibit had to be changed, thus making unavailable many blooms which growers had been grooming for the display. The specimens exhibited however were excellent and a very colorful and artistic effect was secured with the flowers brought in. Roses, sweet peas, snapdragons, pansies, begonias, iris and various "old fashioned" flowers were seen in considerable profusion. There was an excellent display of ferns and also one fine, though small lot of dahlias, unusual for the season.

But the vegetables raised by Mr H. MacGregor, Superintendent of Parks and Open Spaces, in experimentation with the activated sludge deservedly claimed major attention. Fine firm heads of cabbage of unusual size, huge onions and leeks, giant beans and peas, carrots, potatoes and luscious looking rhubarb were among the products of the scheme and there was likewise a fine display of strawberries, of unusual size. The vegetables were grown by Mr. MacGregor on various plots of ground belonging to the Council and scattered about the Settlement and Mr. MacGregor expressed himself as well satisfied with the success of the experiment and hopeful of obtaining ever better results in future.

Some good displays of vegetables were also made by various members of the society, but none to compare with those mentioned above.

Table displays were few in number this year but two in particular were most attractive—one done in pink and white poppies and one with snapdragons.

The judges were Mr. C. Winsgrove, Mrs. Comfoot and Mr. R. W. Wells assisted by Mr. MacGregor and the list of prizes follows:

The police came but "Big Bill" didn't need them—finished the job before they got there. Come to see the fight of the man who loves children and animals and who thinks a horse is pretty near human.

GERMANY PLANS NEW EFFORT TO PACIFY FRENCH

Berlin Developing New Reparations Offer—Industrialists Offer Aid

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 29.—Events are moving quickly towards another attempt to settle the reparations problem. Up to the present there is no confirmation of the Berlin report that the German Government is sending three representatives to London to seek British advice, but the German Government is negotiating with industrialists with regard to their co-operation in making a new offer.

The industrialists offered £10,000,000 as their share of the annual sum of £25,000,000 to be paid to the Allies. German socialists declare that this is inadequate.

Meanwhile it is reported from Berlin that the position of the Cuno Government is precarious. The powerful Center Party, headed by the ex-Chancellor, Dr. Wirth, is vigorously attacking the Ministry. Even the Democrats, who have hitherto been the strongest supporters of the Cuno Government, are discontented.

The Communist Party is apparently increasing. It is feared that the disorders in the Ruhr may spread to unoccupied Germany. Already there has been sporadic disorders in Saxony. The situation in Berlin is said to be critical.

(Reuter's Service)

London, May. 29 (later).—Nothing is known in authoritative quarters in London with regard to the reported visit to London of three German representatives in order to sound the British Government with regard to reparations.

It is emphasised that the position of the British Government in that connection is unchanged and there can be no question of Britain advising Germany with regard to an offer acceptable to France and Belgium.

The question is between France and Germany. Britain will not interfere though she is anxious that a satisfactory offer should be made.

(Reuter's Service)

Brussels May 29.—M. Poincare has informed the Belgian Foreign Minister, M. Jaspar, that he will come to Brussels on June 6 for discussions between France and Belgium on reparations.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 29.—The Finance Committee of the Chamber of Deputies is being asked to approve supplementary credits of 35,500,000 francs for operations in the Ruhr in June, of which 12,000,000 francs is for the Railway Regie and the remainder for military expenditure. Exclusive of the 12,000,000 francs normal cost of maintenance, the total of the special Ruhr credits for six months is 267,000,000 francs.

(Reuter's Service)

Paris, May 29.—The Chamber of Deputies today accepted the Ruhr credits by 505 votes to 67 after strong criticism by M. Tardieu on the inadequacy of the military organisation, the incompleteness of the blockade and the unsatisfactory results of the occupation. He advocated a more forceful policy. The Premier repudiated M. Tardieu's allegations.

(Reuter's Service)

Duesseldorf, May 29.—An incident took place tonight at the Bonifacius mine, where a French sentry shot one of four Germans who ignored his challenge and attempted to enter the mine. The Germans returned the fire, wounded the sentry in the hand.

(Reuter's Service)

Brussels, May 29.—The railway strike is still spreading. Signalmen at Liège and locomotive engineers at Tournay have struck, but the telegraph and telephone employees at Antwerp have resumed work.

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, May 29.—The French today evacuated the big dyeworks at Hoechst which they occupied on May 14. Work has been resumed.

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 30.—The report that the German Government has sent representatives to London in regard to reparations is explicable by the fact that small deputations of German financial and industrial leaders are now in London, headed by the Director of the Darmastadter Bank.

A deputation conferred yesterday with members of the Industrial group of the House of Commons, who contended that the German reparations proposals did not stand comparison with the burden of taxation borne by Britain.

It is understood that the German proposal was the establishment of a commission to fix the amount Germany was able to pay and the immediate raising of a German internal gold loan of £100,000,000 as a first instalment in the payment of reparations for the forfeited areas which would be handed over immediately to Belgium, Italy and France.

VALERA ORDERED FIRING TO STOP ON MAY 28 SAYS AIDE

Publicity Department Announces Order Was Issued Last Week

(Reuter's Service)

London, May 29.—De Valera's Publicity Department announces that an order to cease fire and dump arms, to be completed by May 28, was issued to the Republican Army on May 24.

London, May 30.—An all-night sitting of the House of Commons in the committee stage of the Indemnity Bill was marked by a swift succession of opposition amendments, most of which were rejected by substantial majorities. Other amendments of a minor character were accepted by the Government and embodied in the Bill.

The discussion regarding the Bill was quiet until the opposition parties discovered that the Bill as drafted could extend the indemnity to other cases than the deportations, although it was stated that the Government had no intention to use the Bill except in respect of the deportations.

A motion for an adjournment to enable further examination of the position was defeated by 241 votes to 164.

An application for closure led to vigorous Labor protests but Lord Robert Cecil restored harmony by moving an amendment, strictly limiting the Bill to the deportations. This was carried without a division.

The third reading of the Bill will be on June 1.

DENIES U. S. MADE OFFER OF TRADE PACT TO TURKEY

Minister To Switzerland Says Washington Was Approached By Angora

(Reuter's Service)

Washington, May 29.—The Government denies categorically that Mr. Grew, the American Minister to Switzerland, suggested a commercial treaty to Turkey. On the contrary, the proposal came from Turkey. Definite negotiations are improbable until the broader Lausanne problems have been settled.

Constantinople, May 29.—Angora reports indicate differences between Russia and Turkey. It is stated that the Turks have decided to exclude Soviet vessels from Turkish ports as a reprisal for the Soviet attitude to Turkish vessels.

Berlin Hears Of Saxony Outbreaks

(Reuter's Service)

Berlin, May 29.—Although the Government of Saxony denies that there have been any disorders at Dresden despatches to the Berlin newspapers describe the situation there as serious. They say that the unemployed tried to storm the police headquarters last night and that there were several casualties. They also demanded the closing of the Opera House but withdrew when the directorate promised to give 300,000 marks to the unemployment fund. The Municipality also granted 500,000,000 to the fund. The shops and restaurants have been closed for fear of plundering.

Spot and forward bar silver were each down ⅛d. in London yesterday. The New York price declined to 66⅞ cents and the London-New York cross rate is unchanged at 462¼.

Our Official quotations here today were unchanged from yesterday but our market throughout the day was weak, speculators being strong buyers due no doubt to the news that the Nanking Mint had closed and that the Hangchow Mint would likely close in a few days.

There were generally sellers of Sterling at 3-2-5-16 for May delivery, 3-2¼ for June, 3-2-3-16 for July and 3-2⅛ for August.

There were buyers at 1-16d above these rates. There were sellers of Gold Dollars at 73⅞ for near and forward deliveries with buyers at 74⅛. There was a very strong demand for Yen today and at the close there were no sellers at better than 66⅝ for any delivery with strong buyers at 66½.

Banks were quoting 3-2¾, 75¾ and 1145 for Sterling Gold Dollar and Franc bills respectively. China sold silver in London yesterday and there was some bear covering by India, the market closing steady. The New York market is easier with good sellers for forward delivery.

While it should be the policy of every self-respecting body to disregard, in general such statements made, we feel that some explanation is due our friends.

OUR PURPOSES ARE ENTIRELY CONSTRUCTIVE and we shall continue to give our entire attention to maintaining our reputation for the finest equipped, most modern Optical Establishment in the Orient.

Every member of our present organization is a resident of many year's standing whose ability has been thoroughly tested and proven satisfactory.

THIS ESTABLISHMENT IS NOT MOVING, our present location being good for a five years' lease, also complete prescriptions are on file, of the examinations made by the Gatton, Empire, and Thompson Optical Companies, while the original equipment and machinery in its entirety is intact. Any statement to the contrary is altogether false.

In the interests of justice, we are unable to comment further on certain facts which will be disclosed in proceedings now being instituted, and we believe that the great majority will withhold judgment until they have adequate information, and to those we would say that we shall be willing to abide by their judgment when they are fully conversant with the facts.

We feel confident that our friends and patients, with their continued growth will warrant our every endeavour on their behalf, and inasmuch as we are BUILDING FOR THE FUTURE, we will continue to deserve your patronage.

Will The Tuchuns Take Heed?

CONGRATULATIONS of the entire foreign business community in China will, we believe, be extended to Mr. H. E. Arnhold on the bold and virile note which he struck at yesterday's annual meeting of the China Import and Export Company. We on our part earnestly commend the address to the attention of our readers, both foreign and Chinese.

It is not often (in fact we do not recall a single instance) that the head of an individual company with vast investments and interests all over the land finds it necessary to utter such an outspoken and forthright warning. Usually such warnings are issued through the media of commercial organisations. But as Mr. Arnhold says: "The time has come for plain-speaking."

Before going into his argument we wish to say that in our opinion the business men of China will in their heart of hearts approve everything Mr. Arnhold has had to say. After all they and their people are the chief victims of the tuchuns and of the rabble strapping of the tuchuns, the bandits. And however vast the foreign business interests in China may be, the Chinese business interests in the aggregate are far vaster.

Mr. Arnhold says: "Tuchuns and bandits must be reminded by signs visible and palpable that behind foreign notes and protestations stands the stern reality of military force.

"China is being allowed to drift towards a state of chaos and widespread disaffection such as existed in the days of the Taiping rebellion.

"Not only the business men but the powers must unite to make Chinese officialdom realise that the altruistic ideals concerning China promulgated at the Washington Conference can no longer continue to serve as a pretext for the infringement of treaty rights and the endangering of foreign lives and property."

Mr. Arnhold further said that "sincere well-wishers of China must heartily concur in the views expressed by The London Times recommending an international commission to frame measures for the protection of foreign interests in China."

It is of course certain that foreign interests will in the end be accorded the protection in China to which they are entitled, and which they receive in every other civilised country, and if to secure this protection there is need for military force, such force will be employed. It will be done with regret by the foreign powers; it will be viewed with more regret by the Chinese government and people.

All the more so on the part of the latter because they are powerless to throw off or release themselves from the octopus in whose [illegible] and dying. We hear it said: "Finish Tsao Kun, Wu Pei-fu and Chang Tso-lin; deprive them of power!" We ask: What power is there in China capable of punishing them? There is none. They have the largest and best equipped armies, built up at the expense of the Chinese people; they have vast fortunes extorted from the people; the government itself stands or falls at their will. What combination of Chinese business men or political factions is capable of overthrowing them? Again, there is none. Unless these armies themselves, realising the peril to China's sovereignty which the tyrannies of these warlords have brought near, should turn upon them. Of this there is not much hope.

And what are these armies for? Are they for the defense of China against foreign invasion? Not at all, and they would be of little use if such invasion were made. No. They are for the oppression and suppression of the Chinese people and for the personal aggrandisement of these three we have named and the lesser chieftains.

It is high time that these overlords and their provincial satellites realised the deplorable and desperate plight to which their wars for personal power have reduced their country. For it is as certain as that the sun rises in the heavens that if they don't clean up their country, foreign forces will be employed to do it for them.

More Truth Than Poetry

BY S. E. KISER

Fair lady, I have often thought,
While gazing at you on the screen,
Of happiness that you have brought
To people whom you've never seen;
I've often wondered if you ever
Think, when you feel the critic's blow,
Of those who love you, and will never
Have any chance to tell you so.

I wonder if you ever guess
How people who have much to bear
Find in your smiling loveliness
An antidote against despair?
In aching breasts your charms engender
Forgetfulness, contentment, bliss,
And who has ever learned to render
A service more sublime than this?

Why care if sour old women seek
To spread suspicions that are mean?
It matters little how they speak,
Or what they see or have not seen;
Your beauty causes men to wonder,
Your smiles give joy that reaches far;
Fate would have made a sorry blunder
If you had not been what you are.

Let jealousy turn up her nose,
And ancient prudes be horrified;
They have no charms that banish woes,
No talents that awaken pride!
Much gladness would be lost, without you;
Where peace is, worries would intrude;
Why care what frumps may say about you,
If you may thrill the multitude?

Is Your Home A Drab Place Without Smiles

BY J. J. MUNDY

You admit that there is nothing especially wrong with your home life, but somehow you are not particularly interested in it.

You wonder at other men who are so enthusiastic about home.

To you, your home is a place to go when outside interests pall.

You do not quarrel in your home, but there is no enthusiasm on the part of either yourself or your wife.

You both seem to be "just going along."

Home, to you, is a drab place where you seldom feel like laughing or smiling, even, because—well, "what is there to smile or laugh about?"

You would be angry if anyone suggested that you and your wife separate.

You would be furious if anyone suggested that you could be happier with someone other than your wife.

But if your home is a counterpart of the above description there is something wrong with you and your wife.

You should become interested in the things which you each know interests the other.

Get out of the rut you are in, for the longer you go on in this colorless way the farther you are growing apart.

Hey, Westa: To settle a bet, will you give us the inside dope on that story about Al Jennings: did Al meet Johnny at a wharf, or take him aboard, baggage and all, at a wild section of the seashore?

You're both wrong: Johnny went out to the Destroyer on a tender.

Speaking of inside dope, here's the low down on that story from Tsaochuang a week or two ago about the bandits planning an attack on the relief station:

It seems that no sooner was the relief station established than a flock of relatives, friends, camp followers, sensation hunters and the liked flocked to Tsaochuang to see if by some lucky chance they couldn't break into the hero class. Naturally there wasn't anything they could do, and so, finding themselves on the verge of prostration from acute ennui they began to concentrate on eating. There were so many of them and they were so fearful that something would happen to shut off the flow of supplies from Shanghai (which involved the danger of making each meal the last) that it took nearly everything in the way of groceries that the Chamber of Commerce could send up there to appease their ravenous and ceaseless hunger. As a result there wasn't much left for the captives, and nothing at all for the relief workers, consular officials and correspondents who were there on legitimate business.

A relief worker, like The Little Corporal's army, travels on its belly, and these particular relief workers soon realised that they wouldn't be able to travel far unless they could devise some means of clearing the camp of the excursionists. Accordingly they hatched, as they say in the saffron journals, a plot.

This plot consisted of calling in two or three of the small army of Chinese "boys" whom the visitors had appropriated to cook and serve food for them, and by a judicious expenditure of some four or five dollars prevailing upon them to suddenly feign great excitement, coupled with an earnest desire to get away from that place. The boys promised to do as instructed, and to carefully time their little "act" to make it coincide with the approach of a Shanghai bound train. When the time came the boys allowed themselves to get all worked up suddenly, and when a committee from the hearty eaters' club inquired as to the genesis of their agitation they were informed that some of the Chinese soldiers had told them that the bandits had left their lair at Paotzuku only an hour before, with the object of attacking the relief station.

The next train to Shanghai, it is needless to add, carried what my old friend Heinie Krull calls a full passenger list.

Judge Lobingier's Memorial Day Address

since passed into history. The time has come for an impartial and dispassionate appraisal of its leading participants on both sides and a search for what their lives and deeds can teach us in our respective localities. Particularly should we Americans in China, so remote from the main current of our national life, seek to connect it with our highly fruitful local history and to utilize our Memorial Day as an occasion for patriotic heart searching and inspiration.

It happens that there is one great figure of our Civil War who had a brief connection with China. He was the only former President of the United States who ever visited the land we live in and he seems to have been Shanghai's most famous visitor; for while Kublai Khan and Marco Polo were distinguished aliens, whose names are inseparably connected with China as a whole, I cannot learn that either of them ever visited Shanghai. Certainly neither was as famous in his own country or throughout the world as the one who led the victorious armies in the mighty conflict which gave rise to our Memorial Day.

CENTENARY OF HIS BIRTH

Last spring upon the centennial of his birth it was my privilege to witness the dedication of the magnificent monument to this great man in our nation's capital. The whole country joined in commemorating the occasion and President Harding delivered the address at the hero's birthplace, Point Pleasant, Ohio. Surely it is fitting for Americans in China to take some cognisance of this centenary of the birth of Ulysses S. Grant.

Forty-four years ago this month, General Grant came to Shanghai. He visited other parts of China as well—went to Peking, saw the Great Wall, in which, as a military expert he was naturally interested, and made the acquaintance of the famous Mandarin, Li-Hung Chang, whom he ranked with Gladstone and Bismarck as the three greatest characters whom he had met on his tour around the world and whose ancestral temple stands in the outskirts of Shanghai.

SHANGHAI RECEPTION

But it was here that Grant was given the most remarkable reception, marred though it was by the distressing accident which caused the death of a leading Shanghai merchant whose hong is still in business here. The older residents recall this visit as one of the notable events in the city's history. General Grant was then entering upon the last stage of his world tour (itself then no ordinary achievement) which afforded the culminating feature of his extraordinary career. Previous to that he had been our foremost national figure—the victorious leader in a great war, the chief executive for two terms of a reunited country—but by his tour of the world he became an international character. Every country which he visited strove to do him the utmost honour. The great and powerful in every land were his devoted hosts. Canon Farrar in his Memorial address at Westminster Abbey, during which the flags were lowered upon the royal yachts and the royal residences of Windsor and Osborne, said:

"Could we be gathered in a more fitting place to honour General Grant? There is no lack of American memorials here. We add another today."

WHAT ARE THE LESSONS?

What were the characteristics of this man whose name has been so indelibly stamped on the pages of America's history and the world's? What are the lessons which his life has left us?

First of all I would name simplicity. General Grant's origin was modest though neither humble not squalid. His lineage was long and respectable but not distinguished. He was of the eighth generation from Mathew Grant who emigrated from Dorchester, England, and helped to found Dorchester, Massachusetts in 1630. His grandfather, Noah Grant was a Captain in the Continental army, serving throughout the Revolution, but both he and his son, Jesse, father of our hero, became pioneers of the then far-western region of Ohio. Into that sparse community of "gaunt frontier folk" with its atmosphere of genuiness, freedom, and real democracy — breeding sincerity, courage and sturdy character—Ulysses S. Grant was born, when Abraham Lincoln was a lad of thirteen, living less than a hundred miles to the west, just a hundred and one years ago last month.

ENTERS WEST POINT

Grant's early schooling was meager and his comment on that portion of it obtained away from home illustrates at once its inefficiency and his own frankness. "I was not studious in habit" he says, "and probably did not make progress enough to compensate for the outlay for board and tuition". Equally modest was his remark at having "passed my examination for admission (to West Point Military Academy) without difficulty, very much to my surprise". His experience at West Point and in the Mexican war, and his early life in the army are related with the same naivete and self depreciation. In fact his "Memoirs" have been rightly selected as a model of biographical writing. But their simple, terse, direct style had long been foreshadowed in his military and other papers which were marvels of concise though adequate, expression. They were characteristic of the man.

"His words few because his thoughts were great.
His deed blew its own trumpet, and his state
Went not before, but followed like a fate."

RETIRES TO FARM

Six years after the Mexican war he took a step which again illustrated his genuine, simple nature. Finding it impossible to maintain his growing family in their due position at his station in San Francisco where, as he says, "a cook could not be hired for the pay of a captain," he resigned his commission and retired to a farm near St. Louis. Here, he tells us:

"I worked very hard, never losing a day because of bad weather, and accomplished the object in a moderate way".

This was his period of introspection and preparation. One cannot but think of similar episodes in the lives of other great characters in history—of Moses, tending the flocks of his father-in-law, Jethro, in the desert of Midian, and unconsciously preparing to lead his people out of bondage; of King Alfred, hiding in a peasant's hut and earning the chastisement of the irate house wife for letting the pot boil over, while he was dreaming of the hour when he should liberate the Saxon fatherland from the Danes. These years of obscurity and solitude were Grant's time of self discipline. Here and at Galena, Illinois, where he served in his father's leather store, he prepared to to become "ruler over many things" by first being "faithful over a few". As Canon Farrar well said in his Memorial Address:

SOVEREIGN INSIGHT

"If the men who knew him in Galena—obscure, silent, unprosperous, unambitious—had said—if any one had predicted—that he would become twice President and one of the foremost men of the day, the prophecy would have seemed extravagantly ridiculous. But such careers are the glory of the American continent they show that the people have a sovereign insight into intrinsic force."

Yes, Grant's foremost characteristic was simplicity and it was manifest under all conditions—in the hour of success as well as of adversity. After he had completed the masterly manoeovers leading to the investment of Vicksburg, we are told, he rode out with Sherman on the bluff overlooking the beleagured city. Sherman "burst forth in praise and admiration of his chief and of the great campaign which he had planned and carried through,

"I CONSIDER THEM A BOON TO US WOMEN"

Lady In Natal Has Convincing Personal Proof of The Efficacy of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

Mrs. M. Begg, 6 Queen Street, Durban South Africa, states:—

"When at the age of 25 the premature birth of my third baby put me into a deplorable state of health, something seemed to have gone wrong, and I was bad for years after. The healthy functions of nature were entirely interrupted and I seemed to be getting worse in spite of the best of treatment. I became extremely nervous, and had little or no appetite; then I began to have swellings all over my body, and suffered much pain. If I pressed my fingers into the fleshy parts of my limbs the dents remained for a long time, looking ugly and white, as if I had pressed all the blood out of the parts pressed. My case was then thought to be dropsical. I could get no relief or in any way reduce the swellings, or get rid of many other unpleasant symptoms I had, until I was finally advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. After I had taken a few bottles of the pills I felt much relieved; the swellings began to go down until they disappeared altogether. I always recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to ladies I hear of suffering from any feminine ailment, as I consider they are a boon to us women."

Your dealer sells Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, or post free at $1.50 per bottle, $8—for 6 bottles, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., 60 Kiangse Road, Shanghai. Write for the booklet "The Way To Be Well." It is free.

"Began to think she would never get well."

Our Portrait is of Miss FLORRIE ORGAN, of 100, Clark Street, Ladywood, Birmingham, England, whose father writes:

"My daughter Florrie was suffering with a very bad head covered with Sores and Eruptions, and in fact her mother was afraid to comb her hair. She had been under several doctors, but all to no purpose, so I began to think she would never get well again and lose all her hair. As your 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' cured me of Glandular Swellings in the Neck some years ago, and so averted my having to undergo an operation, I decided to give 'Clarke's Blood Mixture' a fair trial in the case of my daughter, and I am pleased to say it effected a wonderful cure in just over a fortnight."

SUFFERERS from Bad Legs, Abscesses, Ulcers, Glandular Swellings, Piles, Eczema, Boils, Blotches, Spots, Pimples, Eruptions, Rheumatism, Gout, should realise that lotions and ointments can but give temporary relief; to be sure of complete and lasting benefit the blood must be thoroughly cleansed of the impure waste matter the root cause of such troubles. Clarke's Blood Mixture quickly attacks, overcomes and expels the impurities; that is why so many remarkable recoveries stand to its credit. Pleasant to take, and free from injurious ingredients.

Grant lighted a fresh cigar, smiled and said never a word."

PUERILE CRITICISM

Sometimes, however, this very virtue was misconstrued and used to his disadvantage. One who describes him as he appeared at the nation's capital in the spring of 1864, to receive his commission as Lieutenant General—a rank previously held in full by Washington alone—saw only a "short," round-shouldered man in a very tarnished major-general's uniform. . . . He had no gait, no station, no manner, rough, light-brown whiskers, a blue eye, and a rather scrubby look withal . . . . a rather seedy appearance." One might suppose that, in view of the awful weight of responsibility and peril which General Grant had borne for over two years, and which was growing heavier each day, such puerile criticism might have been omitted. But unconsciously, and with sublime simplicity, the great soldier answered it in describing, twenty years later, that memorable scene at Appomattox which ended the mighty conflict.

"When I left camp that morning" (April 9, 1865) he says, "I had not expected so soon the result that was then taking place, and consequently was in rough garb. I was without a sword, as I usually was when on horseback on the field, and wore a soldier's blouse for a coat, with the shoulder straps of my rank to indicate to the army who I was. . . .

"General Lee was dressed in a full uniform which was entirely new, and was wearing a sword of considerable value. . . .

"In my rough traveling suit, the uniform of a private with straps of a lieutenant-general, I must have contrasted very strangely with a man so handsomely dressed, six feet high and of faultless form. But this was not a matter that I thought of until afterwards."

WAS GUILELESS BOY

In his boyhood, he tells us, he was sent to buy a colt for which his father had offered $20 but for which the owner wanted $25. The youthful Grant said: "If you won't take $20 I am to offer $22.50 and if you won't take that, then $25." "It would not require a Connecticut man," he adds, "to guess the price finally agreed upon." This guilelessness in financial affairs followed him to the end and made it easy for the wily Ferdinand Ward to deceive and victimize him only a couple of years before his death. But the sober sense of a discriminating people treated with deserved contempt the poisonous insinuations of reptilian tongues that their great captain had been a party to, or cognisant of, the colossal frauds of one who had lured him into a purely nominal partnership.

II.—Next to simplicity I would name, as Grant's most conspicuous characteristics, his faith and perseverance. In his military policy he saw clearly, looked far ahead, and clung with unconquerable tenacity to plans once adopted. His laconic reply of "unconditional surrender" to all overtures for terms but expressed his conviction that the war could not be won by half way measures. In more than one decisive engagement his course confirms the view that victory comes to the commander who holds out longest when all are thinking of surrender. At Fort Donelson two days' fighting had brought apparent defeat; but Grant refused to recognise it. With an insight shared by none of his colleagues, he sensed the real situation, rallied his demoralised forces and compelled "unconditional surrender."

STEMS THE TIDE

At Shiloh, too, the advantages of the first day's fighting were all with the Confederates. But Grant managed to stem the rising tide and on the second day he snatched victory from the jaws of defeat. More than two years later, after the horrors of the "Wilderness" and out of the hell of Spottsylvania, he issued his characteristic despatch reading, "I propose to fight it out on this line if it takes all summer." It took longer—almost a year—but he fought it out on that line. His military movements were like a glacier—often slow and almost imperceptible, but steady, always forward and ultimately resistless. Fort Henry, Fort Donelson, Shiloh, Vicksburg, Chattanooga, Petersburg, Appomattox—what a magnificent series of crowning triumphs. And what a tribute to his faith and reward for his perseverance. Well did his poet eulogist write:

"On this plain man two gifts the gods bestowed;
He weighed the pack before he took the load;
And where he marched it was a one-way road."

NEVER UNGRACIOUS

III.—Crowning all these other qualities was Grant's magnanimity. As President Harding well said in his centennial address of last year:

"At Appomattox he was Grant the magnanimous, who spoke for reunion as he had fought for union, and turned from grim warrior to the ambassador of peace. He could neither hate nor humiliate, and in the very glow of surpassing triumph he could not be ungracious or inconsiderate."

To know how true these words are we need only turn to Grant's own account of the interview between himself and General Lee when the terms of surrender were settled. After stating that he had never previously formulated the terms, Grant continues:

"As I wrote on, the thought occurred to me that the officers had their own private horses and effects, which were important to them, but of no value to us; also that it would be an unnecessary humiliation to call upon them to deliver their side arms.

"No conversation, not one word, passed between General Lee and myself, either about private property, side arms, or kindred subjects. . . . When he read over that part of the terms about side arms, horses and private property of the officers, he remarked, with some feeling, I thought, that this would have a happy effect upon his army. . . .

AIDED THE VANQUISHED

"I took it that most of the men in the ranks were small farmers. The whole country had been so raided by the two armies that it was doubtful whether they would be able to put in a crop to carry themselves and their families through the next winter without the aid of the horses they were then riding. The United States did not want them and I would, therefore, instruct the officers I left behind to receive the paroles of his troops to let every man of the Confedereate army who claimed to own a horse or mule take the animal to his home. Lee remarked again that this would have a happy effect. . . .

"When news of the surrender first reached our lines our men commenced firing a salute of a hundred guns in honour of the victory. I at once sent word, however, to have it stopped. The Confederates were now our prisoners, and we did not want to exult over their downfall."

Need we wonder that, in the South, Grant was the most beloved of all the Union Generals?

Yes he was an "ambassador of peace" and three years later, in accepting the nomination for the Presidency, in place of the voluminous letter which usually marks such an event, he wrote a short paragraph whose closing sentence has become historic. "Let us have peace." As President, he carried out this policy consistently, and many an ex-Confederate soldier, like General Longstreet, as United States Marshal for Georgia, bore a civil commission signed by President Grant. At his funeral the pallbearers included not only four Union, but also four Confederate Generals, among them Buckner, who had surrendered to Grant at Fort Donelson. And at the unveiling of the monument last year in Washington many ex-Confederates were present, including their Commander Gen. J. B. Carr who has also visited Shanghai.

"I sometimes wonder," said President Harding, in his centennial address, "if the magnanimity of Grant would not be helpful in the world today." And he added with a seeming wistfulness, as though already contemplating his recent statesmanlike stand for America's adherence to the International Court of Justice.

NEED HIM TODAY

"I cannot help but believe that something of the spirit with which Grant welcomed victory, something of his eagerness to return to peaceful ways, would have speeded the restoration and hastened the return to prosperity and happiness without which there can be no abiding peace."

Yes the spirit of Grant alone will relieve the sad plight in which Europe and the Near East are found, nearly five years after the world war. And it is not only his love of concord which is needed—it is the vision of international good will which his world tour gave him.

"When guns grow mute the strife of tongues may cease,
And the same hand that bound should bring release,
Hark! 'tis a soldier shys, 'Let us have peace.'"

CASTORIA
for Infants and Children.
The Effects of Opiates.
THAT INFANTS are peculiarly susceptible to opium and its various preparations, all of which are narcotic, is well known. Even in the smallest doses, if continued, these opiates cause changes in the functions and growth of the cells, which are likely to become permanent, causing imbecility, mental perversion, a craving for alcohol or narcotics in later life. Nervous diseases, such as intractable nervous dyspepsia and lack of staying power, are a result of dosing with opiates or narcotics to keep children quiet in their infancy. The rule among physicians is that children should never receive opiates in the smallest doses for more than a day at a time, and only then if unavoidable.
The administration of Anodynes, Drops, Cordials, Soothing Syrups and other narcotics to children by any but a physician cannot be too strongly decried, and the druggist should not be a party to it. Children who are ill need the attention of a physician, and it is nothing less than a crime to dose them willfully with narcotics. Castoria contains no narcotics if it bears the signature of Chas. H. Fletcher.
The signature of Chas. H. Fletcher guarantees genuine Castoria
Physicians Recommend Castoria.
"Your preparation known as Castoria I have used for years in children's complaints and I have found nothing better." JOHN J. LEFFA, M. D., Cleveland, Ohio.
"I have prescribed your Castoria in many cases and have always found it an efficient and speedy remedy." A. F. FESLER M. D., St. Louis, Mo.
"For several years I recommended your 'Castoria' and shall always continue to do so, as it has invariably produced beneficial results." EDWIN F. PARDEE, M. D., New York City.
"I have used your Castoria in my own household with good results, and have advised several patients to use it for its mild, laxative effect and freedom from harm." EDWARD PARRISH, M. D., Brooklyn, N. Y.
"Your Castoria is a meritorious household remedy. It is purely vegetable and acts as a mild cathartic. Above all, it does no harm, which is more than can be said of the great majority of children's remedies." VICTOR H. COFFMAN, M. D., Omaha, Neb.
"Your Castoria holds the esteem of the medical profession in a manner held by no other proprietary preparation. It is a sure and reliable medicine for infants and children. In fact it is the universal household remedy for infantile ailments." J. A. PARKER, M. D., Kansas City, Mo.

AUDACIOUS ANGLES ON CHINA
The Companion Piece to the Diary of a Shanghai Baby
By ELSIE McCORMICK
Have you ever sat with your best fountain-pen in hand, trying to write a letter home that will give your friends a clear idea of life in the Far East? If so, you know how hopeless it is to convey any adequate notion of social conditions, Chinese customs, and all the humorous slants on housekeeping and business common in the everyday experience of the Shanghai resident.
Miss McCormick's book, "Audacious Angles on China," is exactly what you want to send home. It consists of 221 pages of concentrated cleverness, touching as many aspects of life in the Far East as could be packed between the covers. Thirty-six of the best sketches which Miss McCormick has written for the CHINA PRESS during the past year are combined to make up the volume, including such popular favorites as "Chinese Jazz," "Pid-gin English," "The City of Twinkling Toes," "Enter the Sing-Song Girl," "Nobody Loves a Chinese Tailor," and other articles which called forth particularly favorable comment.

Weddings

HOLLAND—MacDONALD

At the home of Mr. H. B. Longfellow, 34 Rue Corneille, Miss Rosewarn MacDonald and Mr. Lawrence Holland were united in marriage at 11:30 a.m. yesterday. The Reverend Clifford M. Drury, pastor of the Community Church, officiated.

The bride arrived the day before, coming to Shanghai from San Rafael, California. She wore a gray beaded georgette dress and carried a bouquet of white roses. Miss Dorothy Renwick was the bridesmaid.

Mr. Holland has been in Shanghai since last September and is at present the head of the import department of the Robert Dollar Company. Mr. H. B. Longfellow, also of the Robert Dollar Company acted as best man.

Only a few intimate friends were present at the ceremony. Mr. J. B. Sawyer was the Consular representative. After receiving the congratulations of those present, the bride and groom led the way to the dining room where light refreshments were served and the wedding cake was cut by the bride.

The bridal couple left in the afternoon for Hankow for a short wedding trip. They will be at home to their friends at the Dollar Apartments, 403 Avenue Joffre, after June 10.

JOWITT—TAYLER

A pretty wedding took place at St. Joseph's Church in Hongkong on May 24, Rev. Fr. Augustin officiating, when Miss Alice Ethel Tayler, daughter of the late Captain , and Mrs. G. A. Tayler of Hongkong, was married to Captain P. Jowitt, master of the Indo-China Company's s.s. Loongsang.

The bride, who was charmingly gowned, was attended by four bridesmaids, the Misses Dolly, Violet and Phyllis Capel and her niece, Miss Irene Fothergill. Mr. H. H. Tayler, brother of the bride, gave her away while Mr. J. Spiers performed the duties of best man.

A reception was subsequently held at Kingsclere, where the happy couple received the congratulations of a host of friends. They left for Baguio, Philippines, where the honeymoon will be spent.

Camera Amateurs Stage Successful Exhibition Here

An excellent display of the work of local amateur photographers was on view at the Union Church Hall yesterday, when the Photographic Society of Shanghai held its first competitive exhibition.

More than 250 photographs were on display, covering a wide range of subjects and entered by some 50 members of the society. There were many admirable prints of Chinese village life, landscapes both foreign and Chinese and human types of this and other countries. The exhibits contained examples of various printing processes and some particularly fine specimens of autochrome lumiers were put on view by Mr. L. M. Berthot.

The photographs were arranged in three different classes—those on which all the work was done by members of the society; those of which the negatives were taken and developed by the members the rest of the work commercially done, and those of which the picture only was taken by the members, the developing and printing being done commercially.

Bishop Brent Tells Of Warfare On Drug In The Philippines

(Reuter's Service)

Geneva, May 29.—The Opium Commission of the League of Nations today heard the report of Bishop Brent on the American efforts to suppress the abuse of opium in the Philippines, urging an understanding with other countries to overcome the smuggling which was still rampant there.

Sir Malcolm Delevingne, on behalf of Britain, formulated proposals for promoting the enforcement of the second part of the Opium Convention. He recommended raising the price of prepared opium, registration of opium smokers, supervision and control of production, State monopoly for the sale of opium products, and an international understanding for the restriction and supervision of the opium trade.

PRISON SENTENCE IMPOSED UPON FRAUD EXPERT

Sentence of three months' imprisonment on each of four counts—to be served concurrently—was imposed by Judge Peter Grain in the British Police Court yesterday upon Joseph Grimble, described as a habitual criminal and found guilty of frauds by which he obtained money, credit and clothing and of theft.

"I cannot help doing these things. I get these spells," the accused submitted. And, when it was stated that he might be deported to Hongkong at the expiry of sentence, unless he can furnish sureties for future good behavior, Grimble remarked that he would be glad of it as all the missionaries here now knew him—he had defrauded a number of them.

"He wants a new hunting ground," commented Mr. Maitland, police prosecutor.

"A new sphere of action," added the Magistrate.

Inspector Reeves gave the history of this inveterate pretender.

"The prisoner," he said, "is an habitual criminal who made his appearance in Shanghai coming from Hongkong in 1907. He carried on a great number of frauds in that particular year—very contemptible frauds, mostly on poor people who could not afford to have the swindle perpetrated on them.

"He was convicted in this Court on December 4, 1907 and given 15 months' hard labor. He disappeared after his conviction for a number of years and travelled throughout the North, South and Central China. On November 1 he was sentenced in Ningpo to one month for obtaining money by false pretence.

"After this he had several appearances in Shanghai and in September, 1922 he committed further acts of obtaining money by false pretences and by false representations. He was charged in this Court on September 4, and sentenced to two months' hard labor. In the last instance he obtained money by selling false Alexandrites."

Yesterday Grimble was charged with four offences, to which he pleaded guilty. These charges were:

On March 14, 1923 he defrauded W. Biswang of $11 and an overcoat valued at $45; on March 4 he stole from Dr. C. C. Shu a gold watch, valued at $48, and $20 in cash; on February 25 at 10 Avenue Joffre, he obtained credit by fraud from Henri Perinet, also he obtained board and lodging as well, that being the fourth count.

The Judge sent the man to prison for three months on each charge with hard labor, and that after if he were unable to produce sureties he would be deported to Hongkong, where it is believed, he was born, his father being employed by the Government there.

LOCUST PLAGUE NOW THREATENS PHILIPPINE CROPS

Advance Guard Arrives In Manila; Government Trying To Exterminate Insects

(Reuter's Pacific Service)

Manila, May 24.—Locusts here, locusts there and locusts everywhere. Such was the situation in the northern section of Manila today.

The advance guard of the winged pest invaded Manila yesterday afternoon at 2 o'clock, coming from the provinces of Calamba and Laguna across Rizal province. They remained here during the night, and at about 10 o'clock this morning, big swarms made their appearance. In some districts the swarms were so dense that the landscape became a huge shadow in broad daylight.

Steps are being taken by officials of the bureau of agriculture to exterminate the locusts before they get away. Field men equipped with poison spraying devices will start as soon as the flyers settle tonight. People in the infested areas have been requested to co-operate in order to speed up the work before the locusts get a chance to fly away.

Official reports received by the Government yesterday afternoon state that Laguna and Pampanga provinces are heavily infested with the grasshoppers, and that the sugar crop in these provinces is in danger of entire destruction.

Governor General Wood, General Crame of the Philippine Constabulary, department secretaries and other insular officials have joined forces with the Bureau of Agriculture, provincial, municipal and barrio officials in a systematic campaign of extermination of the millions of locusts which infests the entire archipelago. Rush telegrams were sent out early this afternoon by General Crame to all provincial commanders on the island of Luzon where it is believed the danger from locust invasion is greatest, urging them to exert all efforts in co-operation with provincial, municipal and bureau of agriculture officials to kill the pests. Everything in the routine work of the Constabulary will have to be abandoned, the telegrams said, and every attention given to the locust situation.

The Manila Times today addressed an open letter to the Governor General calling his attention to the growing severity of the locust menace, and requesting him to call upon Federal aid, stating that "The situation justifies an appeal to the War Department and the Department of Agriculture in the United States to come immediately to the assistance of this Government with means and materials for the suppression of a pest with which the insular government is unable to cope successfully unaided."
